POST PRODUCTION

Red Planet Cinema was born out of a need to create dramatic visions that come to life. It was founded on the belief that great art is not spawned from a machine, but is derived in the creativity of those who operate the machines. Computers are simply tools that allow art to take new forms, and in the hands of the right artists, they can achieve wonders.

The founders have collectively brought nearly twenty-five years of experience within the industries of film, television, publishing, software, video games, design, web and illustration. Using cutting edge digital tools they are making content that only a few years ago, was very difficult and expensive to produce.

Red Planet Cinema specializes in 3D computer graphics, compositing, animation for cinematic, commercial and home entertainment.

It also produces stock animations, model libraries, interactive training programs and render farm services for the production industry.

For professional quality, trust Red Planet Cinema to produce your next project's elements or the entire production.
