

The FormReader Product Line - Expandable, Scalable and Customizable

The ABBYY FormReader 6.0 product line provides a selection of high-performance solutions that fits your business needs, including Desktop Edition, Developer Edition and Enterprise Edition.

ABBYY FormReader Desktop Edition

FormReader Desktop Edition is an easy to use yet powerful solution for small to medium workgroups that process up to 3,000 forms a day on a single desktop computer.

ABBYY FormReader Developer Edition

For organizations that need a customized form processing system or want to integrate FormReader with other applications, FormReader Developer Edition offers a set of API tools that allow developers to customize the functionality or user interface of FormReader Desktop Edition. In addition, the Developer Edition allows access to FormReader's core functionality using programming languages that support Automation (e.g. C/C++, Visual Basic, Delphi, Java, etc.).

ABBYY FormReader Enterprise Edition

ABBYY FormReader Enterprise Edition is designed for large enterprises in a networked environment. FormReader Enterprise Edition can be easily integrated with your existing document archiving and indexing systems, customer management systems, and more. The architecture is flexible and limited by only server and storage capacity. Beyond the standard features available in the Desktop Edition, ABBYY FormReader Enterprise Edition offers:

- System scalability
- Batch management (i.e. user-access rights control, workload distribution, batch processing)
- Routing management and task management
- Multi-page form processing with automatic document distribution
- Process monitoring (batch-, task-, sequence-, system, and user-monitoring)
- Compatibility with MS SQL/MSDE
- Ability to export to any information management system via API or using any programming language that supports Automation
- Secured access
- Distributed network form processing – use different workstations for differing tasks, such as scanning, recognition, verification, correction, and administration
